

ANSC 102 Group 11

Across

- 4. What type of vaccine is safe for pregnant animals?
- 5. What is active parturition in goats called?
- 6. A high rise slat house, multi-tier, or aviary for chicken production is called what
- 11. What makes sausage sticky?
- 13. In sows, the inside of a cervix contains finger-like projections called...
- 14. How do ruminants digest both simple and complex carbs?
- 16. What type of aquaculture production occurs in long channels?

- 17. What can ruminants digest that monogastric animals cannot?
- 19. A castrated male goat/sheep
- 20. Increased muscle cell fiber prior to birth is called what?

Down

- 1. What type of placenta has multiple, discrete areas of attachment
- 2. Where does spermatogenesis occur?
- 3. What porcine breed has white, droopy ears and is known for its mothering ability and durability?

- 7. What type of placenta do canines and felines possess?
- 8. What is an infection of the mammary gland called?
- 9. Ketosis is what kind of disease?
- 10. How many steers are born each year?
- 12. What is the scientific term for sheep?
- 15. A common issue in horses, basically a stomach ache
- 18. What is the term for risk of hazards?