

AP Psychology Unit 5--What you need to know

Across

1. an infant expects it's needs to be met by this warm, responsive, and sensitive to needs caregiver
3. to experience ostracism is to feel real pain
5. infant/child attachment to care giver
7. external forces, 'pushes' and 'pulls,' motivate us
11. certain human behaviors are innate and due to evolutionary programming
13. a complex psychological state that involves 3 distinct components, experience of feelings that underlies behavior; activates and effects behaviors but difficult to predict behavior
14. a concept or framework that organizes and interprets information
15. motivated behaviors may increase or decrease arousal

17. he created the hierarchy of needs, talked about self actualization
 18. the idea that a psychological need creates an aroused tension state that motivates an organism to satisfy the need
 19. contact comfort experiment with monkeys
 20. infant/child attachment to caregiver or extended family
 21. the theory that our experience of emotion is our awareness of out physiological responses to emotion-arousing stimuli
 22. proposed a psychoanalytic theory of psychosocial development comprising eight stages from infancy to adulthood.
- Down
2. the theory that an emotion arousing stimulus simultaneously triggers physiological responses and the subjective experience of emotion

4. motivation comes from our unconscious, and we have two basic desires; eros (sex) and Thanatos (aggression)--we behave the way we do because it's a safe way to express our Id
6. expanded on Piaget's two stages, identifying six stages of moral development
8. we are motivated to achieve our highest personal potential
9. theory that to experience emotion one must be physically aroused and cognitively label the arousal
10. children know/look at things differently than adults. Children develop in a series of stages.
12. a need or desire that energizes and directs behavior
16. a response of the whole organism, involving, physiological arousal, expressive behaviors, and conscious experience