

Name: _____

Abnormal Psychology

- | | |
|--|-----------------------|
| 1. Present from childhood below average intellectual functioning. | A. Mainstreaming |
| 2. Mental retardation caused by abnormal chromosomal formation during conception. | B. ADHD |
| 3. Syndrome in a child whose mother consumed large amounts of alcohol while pregnant. | C. Autism |
| 4. Spectrum impairment in social communication and performance of restricted, repetitive behaviors. | D. Tic |
| 5. Repeating the same sounds over and over. | E. Tourette's |
| 6. Disorder used to describe individuals with high functioning autism disorder. | F. Down Syndrome |
| 7. Difficulties in number sense, ability to learn arithmetic facts and performing accurate calculations. | G. Asperger's |
| 8. A rapid, recurring, involuntary movement or vocalization. | H. Fetal Alcohol |
| 9. Disorder involving a combination of chronic movement and vocal tics. | I. Mental retardation |
| 10. Persistent pattern of inattention or hyperactivity. | J. Teratogens |
| 11. Impairment in language and speech. | K. Communication |
| 12. Government policy to integrate fully into society people with cognitive and physical disabilities. | L. Echolalia |
| 13. Environment hazards during the prenatal period that affect the developing child. | M. Dyscalculia |