

Argumentative Writing Terms

Across

- 2. facts or reasoning offered to support a position as being true
- 5. taking and using as your own the words and ideas of another
- 7. the information that supports or proves an idea or claim
- 10. to be trusted or believed
- 12. a rhetorical appeal to reason or logic through statistics, facts and reasonable examples
- 13. a writer's or speaker's attitude toward a subject
- 14. a style of writing or speaking that is appropriate for formal communication

16. the use of emotional, ethical, and logical arguments to persuade in writing or speaking

17. adequate for the purpose of supporting a claim or reason

Down

- 1. to locate information from a variety of sources; the information found from investigating a variety of sources.
- 3. giving credit to the authors of source information
- 4. a short essay in which a publication, or someone speaking for a publication, expresses an opinion or takes a stand on an issue.

6. closely connected to the matter at hand

8. the points that explain why the author is making a certain claim

9. a public debate or dispute concerning a matter of opinion

11. a rhetorical appeal to the reader's or listener's senses or emotions through connotative language and imagery

15. a writer's statement of a position or opinion about a topic