

Name: _____

Date: _____

Attachment revision

Across

2. Which study found that only 65% of infants formed an attachment to their mother?
5. This is where a species changes over generations to ensure its survival
6. This psychologist developed the evolutionary theory of attachment
8. What kind of conditioning does Pavlov study with dogs?
12. What is Ainsworth's study of attachment types called?
14. Which study had to be stopped because the infants were so distressed when left alone?
15. A strong emotional bond with a main caregiver

16. The findings of this animal study suggested that infants formed attachments for comfort and contact as well as for food.

18. Which term did Lorenz use instead of attachment?

19. Ainsworth found that her observers interpreted infants' behaviour in similar ways. What is this called?

20. Bowlby said that infants must form an attachment within the first 2.5 years of life. He called this a C..... P.....

Down

1. Some critique animal studies like Harlow because they lack
3. What do we call a species that cannot walk when it is born?
4. Who believed that our attachments create an internal working model and influence our later relationships?

7. Is classical conditioning associated with the nurture or nature part of the debate?

9. What do we call the idea that behaviour is influenced by both nature and nurture?

10. What kind of insecure attachment is where a child ignores the mother and didn't seem to mind if she left the room?

11. Bowlby said that infants formed an attachment with one main caregiver. He called this...

13. Which kind of conditioning is related to rewards and punishments?

17. Ainsworth studied two types of anxiety: stranger and