

Name: _____

Date: _____

Bees, Snakes and Lyme disease Vocab

Across

4. An animal that produces live young from eggs that hatch within the body
6. Snake venom that attacks the circulatory system
8. The male bees in the hive
9. The type of rash that is sometimes present with Lymes
13. A species that is in danger of becoming threatened
15. The process by which snakes shed their skin in order to grow
16. The type of tick that causes Lyme disease
17. The female bee that pollinates

18. The stage of development in which a tick usually infects a human with Lyme Disease

19. An animal that produces live young

20. A serious allergic reaction with rapid onset that may cause death

21. The bacteria that causes Lyme disease

Down

1. Snake venom that attacks the nervous system

2. Pits in the roof of a snake's mouth that aids in smell

3. The phenomenon that occurs when the majority of the worker bees disappear in a colony

5. The usual treatment for Lymes

7. The protein that makes up the scales of a snake

10. Name for the group of snakes that have a heat sensing organ between the eye and nostril

11. Animals that rely on the environment to regulate body temperature

12. An egg laying animal

14. Animals that can regulate their body temperature internally