

CMP Med Terms Week 9

Across

1. The use of X-ray technology to determine the cause of a patient's symptoms
2. A radiological procedure that involves oral administration of a barium sulfate drink
5. A test that evaluates the function of the bile ducts by injection of a contrast medium
10. A X-ray visualization of the spinal cord after the injection of a radioactive contrast medium
12. The use of X-rays and radioactive substances to treat cancer

13. Referring to a procedure in which a catheter, wire, or other foreign object is introduced in the a blood vessel or organ through skin or body orifice

14. A radiologic procedure performed by a radiologist who administers barium sulfate through the anus, into the rectum, and then into the colon
15. A radiologic procedure using contrast medium and fluoroscopy

Down

3. A substance that makes internal organs denser and blocks the passage of X-rays to photographic films

4. The process of X-raying the abdomen to help assess size, shape, and position of the kidneys, urinary organs, and bladder

6. Positron Emission Tomography
7. Referring to procedures that do not require inserting devices, breaking the skin, or monitoring
8. A radiation therapy used to treat localized cancer
9. A radiological procedure that evaluates the condition of the heart's myocardium
11. X-ray examination of the breasts

Word Bank

| | | | |
|----------------------|-------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| Brachytherapy | Noninvasive | Barium Swallow | KUB Radiography |
| Diagnostic Radiology | Myelography | MUGA Scan | Invasive |
| Radiation Therapy | PET | Contrast Medium | Cholangiography |
| Arthrography | Mammography | Barium Enema | |