

Careers in Sociology

Across

3. a person who advises on matters of food and nutrition impacts on health

6. a person trained to give guidance on personal, social, or psychological problems

9. the profession of buying, selling, or renting land, buildings or housing

11. a course of study at a university or college that prepares students for managerial roles in companies or organizations (hint: two words)

12. a mental health professional who evaluates and studies behaviour and mental processes (hint: Freud)

13. a person whose job involves the practical application of abstract legal theories and knowledge to solve specific individualized problems

14. a person who studies the production and distribution of resources, goods, and services by collecting and analyzing data, researching trends, and evaluating economic issues

15. a specialist who focuses on reducing health hazards in our natural environment (hint: two words; first word has "bio" in it and second word has "nee")

Down

1. a practice-based profession and an academic discipline that promotes social change and development, social cohesion, and the empowerment and liberation of people

2. the practice of managing the spread of information between an individual or an organisation and the public, in order to maintain a favourable image (hint: two words)

4. an audio or visual form of marketing communication that employs various methods to promote or sell a product, service or idea

5. the action of restoring someone to health or normal life through training and therapy

7. a person who systematically collects information in order to increase knowledge about a certain aspect of life

8. a person who collects, writes or distributes news or other current information to the public

10. an expert in the branch of science concerning living organisms

16. the use of institutions and processes to create, keep and satisfy a customer, by making offerings that are of value to the consumer