

Ch. 5 Socialization review

Across

- 3. Counterpart of "self" in a social situation
5. Mead's concept of an individual's view of themselves as a total person
7. Process by which we estimate others reactions to our behavior and feel corresponding feelings like pride, embarrassment, etc.
10. Expected behavior of persons in a particular position (ascribed or achieved)
11. A persons idea of him/herself in a particular role

13. 3rd development stage of Mead. Child moves from role of "significant others" to view of society's role in general

14. Parents, peers, role models, lovers are all examples of these.

Down

- 1. Swiss biologist and psychologist. Thought humans pass through growth stages, actively participating in social development
2. The process through which an individual is shaped by the values, customs, and expectations of society.
4. Author of Looking Glass Concept

6. Father of Psychoanalysis

8. Per Freud, the total "raw" traits of a human AND our impulsive desires

9. Our conscience. Freud's concept that refers to that part of the self which has internalized social norms and attitudes.

12. The composite of one's perception, attitudes, and beliefs about himself/herself

15. Links self to real world. Per Freud, the person we see ourselves as being; reconciles the pressures of the id and superego.