

Name: _____ Date: _____

Ch. 5 part 3

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| 1. a type of fungus that affects plants or grows on inanimate objects, but does not cause human infections in the salon. | A. mycobacterium fortuitum |
| 2. self-movement | B. mildew |
| 3. also known as reusable items | C. natural immunity |
| 4. a microscopic germ that normally exists in tap water in small numbers | D. occupational disease |
| 5. immunity that is partly inherited and partly developed through healthy living | E. pus |
| 6. harmless microorganisms that may perform useful functions and are safe to come in contact with | F. pathogenic |
| 7. an item that is made or constructed of a material that has no pores or openings | G. motility |
| 8. illness resulting from conditions associated with employment, such as prolonged and repeated overexposure to certain products or ingredients | H. pathogenic disease |
| 9. organisms that grown, feed and shelter on or in another organism (referred to as a host) | I. nonpathogenic |
| 10. diseases caused by parasites, such as lice and mites | J. multi use items |
| 11. harmful microorganisms that can cause disease or infection in humans when they invade the body | K. phenolic disinfectants |
| 12. disease produced by organisms, including bacteria, viruses, fungi and parasites | L. parasites |
| 13. powerful tuberculocidal disinfectants. | M. porous |
| 14. made or constructed of a material that has pores or openings. | N. nonporous |
| 15. a fluid created by infection | O. parasitic disease |