

Name: _____

Date: _____

Chapter 13

Across

1. "Oops, I said sex instead of success"
 4. This term describes the distinctive and, for the most part, enduring ways of thinking, feeling and acting
 6. Karen Horney believed that children experienced this type of anxiety surrounding the possibility of abandonment by their parents
 10. The name given to the category of theories that build on Freud, but are different
 13. In the genital stage, this serves as the erogenous zone
 14. Carl Rogers used this term to describe when our ideal and actual selves align

15. Freud believed that this aspect of our impulse regulation was in charge of balancing out the super moral and the super pleasure driven aspects of ourselves
 16. Which defense mechanism involves pushing anxiety-arousing memories or impulses into the unconscious mind
 17. This defense mechanism involves reasoning to the point where you can get away from unpleasant feelings/thoughts
Down
 2. According to Karen Horney, this is men's unconscious envy a woman's ability to produce life
 3. The key task that children need to accomplish in the anal stage of personality development, according to Freud

5. This theory of personality was championed by Sigmund Freud
 7. According to Freud, this level of consciousness would hold the names of everyone you know
 8. Carl Jung proposed these collectively inherited unconscious ideas
 9. In the oral stage of personality development, children are fixated on what part of the body
 11. According to Psychoanalytic theory, the superego is driven by which principle
 12. According to Freud, there are how many levels of consciousness
 18. Throwing caution to the wind and doing whatever we feel like is likely driven by which component of the Freud's proposed impulse regulators