

Chapter 14 Vocab

Across

2. a measurement of the number of individuals living in a defined space

6. relationship where one benefits and the other is not harmed or benefits

8. can be described as all of the biotic and abiotic factors in the area in which an organism lives

9. movement of individuals out of a population into another

11. relationship where one benefits and the other is harmed

12. composed of all of the physical, chemical, and biological factors that a species needs to survive

14. a close ecological relationship between two or more organisms of different species

15. relationship where both benefit from one another

16. occurs when a population size increases dramatically over a period of time

Down

1. the sequence of biotic changes that regenerate a damaged community

3. The first organisms that live in a previously uninhabited area

4. the process by which one organism captures and feeds upon another organism

5. when two species are competing for the same resources, one species will be better suited to the niche

7. population begins with a slow growth followed by exponential growth

10. occurs when two organism fight for the same limited resources

13. movement of individuals into a population from another population