

Chapter 3 - Key Terms

Across

4. analysis by which a review of the health record is done to determine its completeness and accuracy

5. the extent to which healthcare data are complete, accurate, consistent, and timely

7. an individual fact or measurement that is the smallest unique subset of a database

9. central database that focuses on clinical information

10. (acronym) established by Congress to serve as an advisory body to HHS on health data, statistics, and national health information policy.

11. preprogrammed definitions of each data field set up within the software application

13. (acronym) a set of guidelines developed by the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control data set designed to support the uniform collection of information in hospital-based emergency departments

14. a list of recommended data elements with uniform definitions that are relevant for a particular use

15. a measure of consistency of data items based on their reproducibility and an estimation of their error of measurement

17. (acronym) a federally mandated standard assessment form that Medicare and Medicaid certified nursing facilities must use to collect demographic and clinical data

18. the dates, numbers, images, symbols, letters, and word that represent basic facts and observations about people, processes, measurements, and conditions

19. reviews health records for various reasons, including reviews of medical records, utilizations, quality, surgical case and tissue, and other pathological reviews

20. a patient-identifying directory referencing all patients related to an organization and which also serves as a link to the patient record or information

Down

1. analysis by which a review of the health record is done to ensure that standards are met and to determine the adequacy of entries documenting the quality of care

2. the extent to which data are free of identifiable errors

3. clear guidelines for the acceptable values for specified data fields, which make it possible to exchange health information using electronic networks

6. the process by which experts in the field evaluate the quality of a manuscript for publication in a scientific or professional journal

8. (acronym) a standard core assessment data tool developed to measure the outcomes of adult patients receiving home health services under the Medicare and Medicaid programs

12. triggered when the mouse is placed on top of a data field

16. (acronym) a recommended data set designed to create a health history for an individual patient treated in an emergency service