

Chapter 4 Assessment

Across

1. When a family finds themselves in a low socio economic status what are they experiencing?
4. What type of households hold more competence because that allow children to engage in activities and figure out what they are good and not good at through exploration.
8. Approximately 80 percent of American adolescents have one or more?
9. An example of what parenting style would Regina Georges mom be in Mean girl's?
10. High frequency, high duration, high intensity
13. What does it mean when all family members reciprocally socialize each other, as opposed to parents unidirectionally influencing their offspring.
16. Early adolescence tends to be higher in conflicts compared to late adolescence.
19. A constellation of interdependent subsystems defined in terms of generation, gender, and role.
21. What does it mean when adolescents and Parents indirectly influence each other?
22. conflicts, unhealthy rivalry, and parent preferences, can be what when you have siblings?

23. An example of this would be that females tend to have higher conflicts with parents than males.
 25. A parent who explains why they are upset in a situation to their child describes what kind of parenting style?
 26. When discussing marital conflict what is a issue that occurs that effects the adolescents?
 27. What is the inability to manage and make sense of situations.
 28. Helping, sharing, teaching, and emotional support are examples of what when having siblings?
 29. A parent who doesn't care about their child's feelings, belittles, abuses, lacks warmth, respect, and love resembles what type of parenting style?
 30. Outcomes related to sibling relationships depend on many what?
- Down
2. What role is played in parent adolescent conflict between Hormonal, physical, and psychological changes?
 3. Parents raising adolescents are most likely in their 40's, a decade notorious for noticing the effects of aging. Parents of this age are also reflecting on the course of their lives and evaluating their accomplishments compared to what they expected to accomplish

5. What does it mean when Parents and adolescents directly influence each other?
6. What is it called when parents decide to split from there marriage?
7. adolescents begin to gradually see themselves as more adult-like and expect more autonomy?
11. With what type of parenting style do children tend to turn out more socially competent
12. When a parent is strict, non negotiable, has high demands but low responsiveness explains what type of parenting style?
14. True or False 20-25% of adolescents have a high degree of conflict with their parents
15. Marital conflict is a direct or indirect effect on adolescent development?
17. What kind of conflict is not only inevitable, but also desirable
18. With authoritarian parenting boys having higher rates of anger and defiance is an example of a what?
20. Autonomy, Belonging, and competence acronym is?
24. What type of relationship is used to collaborate and use each other to cope/process?