

Name: _____

Date: _____

Chapter 5 Key Terms

Across

3. books and documents that have already been converted into or written for an electronic format
5. the process of building bridges from prior knowledge as a baseline and moving students beyond that point
11. low-tech assistive devices that are acrylic or metal covers with holes for each key that is placed on a keyboard
12. can assist students who can understand material at their grade level when they hear it but have difficulty with decoding and comprehending when they read it
13. assistive device, a keyboard that can be configured to an individual student's needs

Down

1. an approach for gifted students that recognizes and targets instruction to the varying abilities found in the same classroom
2. programs that can make an educated guess about the word a student is typing based on the first few letters
4. any item, piece of equipment, or product system that is used to increase, maintain, or improve functional capabilities of a child with a disability
6. assistive device that can magnify a display supporting students with limited vision

7. a display that responds to human touch not a mouse or a pointer

8. assistive devices that support students with very poor vision or ones who become fatigued from screen magnification

9. an assistive device on a keyboard that allows students to press keys sequentially to execute functions that typically require pressing keys simultaneously

10. assistive devices that offer a large surface area and larger keys than a standard keyboard for supporting students that lack fine motor skills