

Chapter XI

Across

- 4. Code K29.9 must only be used if the patient has what type of gastritis when present with duodenitis?
- 8. What must direct you to the category K91 Postprocedural disorders of digestive system, not elsewhere classified in order to use it?
- 10. Hernias with both gangrene and obstruction would be coded to hernia with what?
- 11. Code K07.3 is used if teeth are in an _____ position.

12. If evidence of a recurrent ulcer is found on check endoscopy, the code for a _____ endoscopy would not be assigned.

Down

- 1. What should bowel obstruction be coded to (if known)?
- 2. Which type of colitis mimics both Crohn's and Ulcerative Colitis?
- 3. Where the patient has either alcoholic liver disease or alcoholic pancreatitis due to previous alcohol abuse, what type of code can be used in addition?

5. If on histology, the removed appendix is confirmed to be normal by the responsible consultant, what must be coded?

- 6. What are peptic ulcers classified by?
- 7. The presence of what type of artificial opening is coded at Z93.- Artificial Opening Status?
- 9. Acquired and unspecified oesophageal web are coded to K22. Oesophageal Obstruction. Which type of oesophageal web is not?

Word Bank

- | | | |
|-------------|--------------------|------------------|
| Symptoms | Cause | Indeterminate |
| abnormal | Site | Congenital |
| Follow Up | Alphabetical Index | Personal History |
| Unspecified | Stoma | Gangrene |