

Columbian Exchange & Globalization

Across

3. This cash crop was popular during the Columbian Exchange for the Europeans to force slavery upon the Natives.

5. This low wage country manufactures a majority of cotton and other products used around the world.

6. This ocean borders the east coast of Mesoamerica

7. This person initiated the swap of culture, people, and ideas between the Americas and Europe. His first name is Christopher

10. This river runs west to east in northern Brazil.

11. The world bank defines this as making less than $1.25/day.

12. The movement of people, ideas, and objects from one place to another.

13. This mountain chain runs along the Inca civilization in Chile, South America.

15. Large firms that operate in more than one country.

17. This common manufactured product that has become globalized because of the many ways it has changed and the many countries involved in making it.

18. This is an example of globalization because it is made in one place, but the parts are from all around the world.

20. The development of a global or worldwide society

Down

1. Native

2. Countries that rely on one another for resources, technology, and trade.

4. This can happen from factories spreading toxic waste or smoke into the environment.

8. The flow of goods and services across national borders with few government control

9. This ocean borders the west coast of Mesoamerica

14. This is the act of forcing labor upon a person or group of people

16. This is the made product found in a t-shirt.

19. This Natives wore this as jewelry because they did not know the wealth of it.