

Name: _____

Date: _____

Communication Styles

Across

4. exchange of thoughts, opinions or information by speech, writing or behavior

6. target of the message

10. process involving the reception of the senders message by the receiver

11. type of listening where the listener provides feedback to the speaking according to the information received

13. process of mentally processing a message

15. term describing anything which disrupts the communication process

16. ideas or facts which are a part of someone's cause; is used to damage the opposing cause

18. thought, idea, opinion, etc. which the sender has encoded and wants conveyed

19. communication style characterized by the use of manipulation to achieve an end goal

20. communication style characterized by not reacting, standing up or being noticed and avoiding confrontation

Down

1. method or medium in which the message is sent

2. characterized by presenting an idea with only two choices- either for or against the idea

3. messages sent through body language and facial expressions

5. way in which a message is conveyed

7. response of the receiver to the message

8. type of listening which involves the listener taking information with little to no outward reaction

9. process where the source or sender generates the information intended to be shared with others

12. individual or group who sends or originates the message

14. process of selecting the appropriate channel of communication for message delivery

17. process of transforming information to be conveying into a transferable form