

Crossword - The Scientific Method

Across

2. A strong desire to know or learn something.

6. Smelling, One of the five senses; to get the odor or scent of something through the

8. The process of using our senses carefully to gain information.

9. Science, The study of the world and universe through observation and

10. Seeing, One of the five senses; light is received by the eye and interpreted by the

11. Tasting, One of the five senses; the sensation that occurs when chemicals stimulate receptors located on a large portion of the

12. The action of creating something new.

Down

1. A suggested explanation for some event or problem.

3. Testing to find something out.

4. Touching, One of the five senses; nerve endings and receptors in the skin, responsible for all the sensations we feel - cold, hot, smooth, rough, pressure, tickle, itch, pain,

5. Hearing, One of the five senses; sound waves are received by the ear and interpreted by the

7. Something that can be worked out from doing an experiment.

Word Bank

brain.

nose.

Invention

Curiosity

experiment.

tongue.

Hypothesis

Experimentation

Observation

brain.

vibrations.

Conclusion