

Data Validation and User Authentication

Across

8. The process when a computer checks the length of the input to see if the data is too short or long

9. To check the value is in a specific range

10. Someone checking data against the original document

11. To check whether data has been entered

Down

1. What is an automatic computer check to ensure that data entered is sensible and reasonable

2. Looks up words in the dictionary

3. The process or action proving that entered data is true

4. A check that is more advanced than the type check

5. To check the last two digits in a code to check the entire code

6. Checks that values are in a particular type of data

7. Entering the data twice and comparing the copies

Word Bank

Double entry

spell check

Validation

Range check

Authentication

Format check

Length check

Proofreading data

Check digit

Presence check

Type check