

Do You Like Statistics? Probably.

Across

3. test in which a series of actions are observed to learn something new

7. average of a group of numbers

8. taking a wide range of values and being able to find the mean of them

10. larger values of the first variable are associated with larger values of the second value

11. each row in a table

12. a part or number considered in comparative relation to a whole

13. the group closely resembling the treatment group, but it does not receive any factors under study; comparison group

Down

1. single number summarizing a large amount of data

2. a relationship in which one variable increases while the second variable decreases

4. selected in a order to which the level of bias is reduced

5. subset of the cases

6. a common way to organize data

9. a group of something such as an item or person