

Name: _____

Date: _____

Dram Review

Across

3. Central character of the play; undergoes change

7. Relies on exaggeration

10. Long speech spoken by a single character to himself/herself or to the audience

12. Minor character whose traits sharply contrast with the main character

13. Type of literature performed for an audience

14. Humor arises from subtle characterization

15. A short speech or comment delivered by a character to the audience, but unheard by the other characters who are present

Down

1. Type of conflict between opposing forces within a character

2. Protagonist of "Julius Caesar"

4. Type of conflict that pits character against nature, other character, etc.

5. Monologue where character speaks about their private thoughts; unaware of audience

6. A play where main character experiences disaster, but faces this downfall in a heroic way

8. Antagonist of "Julius Caesar"

9. Character who opposes the main character

11. Emphasizes absurd dialogue