

Enamel

Across

- 2. Enamel loss through tooth to tooth contact
3. Enamel loss through friction
9. A pronounced line of Retzius that corresponds to the birth of the individual
11. Process of enamel matrix formation
12. Crystalline formation of mature enamel consists of mostly
13. Excess systemic fluoride during odontogenesis can cause
14. Enamel loss through chemical means

15. Process by which a cavity is created by demineralization

17. Amelogenesis occurs during the _____ stage

18. Placed on occlusal surface; highly effective in preventing pit and groove caries

19. On radiographs, enamel appears more

Down

1. Responsible for the way the enamel matrix is laid down

4. Caries are first noted in many cases clinically as a

5. _____ become apart of the reduced enamel epithelium after apposition and maturation

6. Hardest calcified tissue in the body

7. Staining occurs in the _____ region

8. Enamel loss through tensile and compressive forces

10. If amelogenesis is not turned off after enamel of crown has been laid down, it may continue to produce enamel over the root dentin. These are known as

16. Enamel is composed of millions of enamel _____