

Name: _____

Evidence Based Practice Vocabulary

Across

6. Data consisting of numbers that represent counts or measurements

8. The reproducibility of a measurement

9. The degree to which a useful or meaningful interpretation can be inferred from a measurement

10. A subset of elements (people) drawn from a population and used in a research study to draw conclusion or make estimates about the larger population

11. Tools that help practitioners with diagnosis and prognosis

12. Standardized tests and measures used to measure various aspects of patient's health status

4. The ability of a diagnostic test to identify when a condition is present (or rule out a condition when the test is negative)

5. The ability of a diagnostic test to identify when a condition is absent (or rule in a test when it is positive)

7. The type of reliability that examines the consistency of repeated measurement made by the same person over time

Down

1. Data that is non-numeric and represents different categories

2. The type of validity concerning whether an outcome measure adequately measures a concept

3. The point in a distribution at which 50% of the values fall above and below

Word Bank

Reliability

Sensitivity

Validity

Interrater

Qualitative

Specificity

Quantitative

Sample

Outcome Measures

Content validity

Median

Clinical Prediction Rules