Name:	Date:
-------	-------

FOOSH Crossword: Forearm Edition

Across

- 1. This motion causes the radius and ulna to cross
- 4. This is when the elbow is out of place which can cause torn ligaments, nerve damage, or breaking the coronoid process
- 9. root that means "dealing with the arm"
- 11. injury term for a breakage in a bone
- 13. deviation where wrist moves towards ulna or medial side
- 14. the sprain of this joint has a MOI of FOOSH with a direct blow to the clavicle
- 15. displacement of a joint from its normal position in a joint
- 17. sudden onset, abrupt

- ${f 18.}$ the longer and thinner bone in the forearm
- 22. acronym for ulnar collateral ligament
- 23. position in which patient is standing erect with palms facing forward
- 24. A major muscle in the forearm that has the primary motion of pronation
- 25. turning hands downward

Down

- 2. acronym for falling on an outstretched hand
- 3. an injury in which either the radius and/or ulna is fractured
- 5. A major muscle in the forearm that has the primary motion of elbow flexion

- 6. acronym for mechanism of injury
- 7. deviation where wrist moves towards radius or lateral side
- 8. acronym for ulnar collateral ligament
- 10. acronym for activity of daily living
- 12. brace that applies pressure to a specific area to decrease stress on another
- 16. connective tissue that connects bone to muscle
- 19. the thicker and shorter bone in the forearm
- 20. connective tissue that connects bone to bone
- 21. bone of the upper arm helping form the shoulder joint