

Name: _____

Date: _____

Family Therapy

Across

4. Free choice; self determination; growth of the self; maturity achieved by overcoming impasses in process of gaining personal fulfillment
7. People use language to subjectively construct their views of reality and provide the basis for how they create "stories" about themselves
8. Personal functioning is determined by the reciprocal interaction of behavior and its controlling social conditions
9. Emotional attachments to one's family of origin need to be resolved
10. Symptoms in an individual are rooted in the context of family transaction patterns, and family restructuring must occur before symptoms are relieved

Down

1. Educational information reduces on families and improve their coping skills
2. Problem-saturated stories people tell themselves organize their experiences and shape their subsequent behavior
3. Dysfunctional families are caught up in destructive "games" and are guided by belief symptoms that do not fit the realities of their lives
5. Unresolved conflicts from past continue to attach themselves to current objects, relationships and situations
6. Redundant communication patterns offer clues to family rules and possible dysfunction; a symptom represents a strategy for controlling a relationship while claiming to be involuntary

Word Bank

Milan
Structural Strategic Transgenerational

Narrative
Psychodynamic
Behavioral Cognitive

Experiential
Psychoeducational
Social constructionist