

Name: _____

Date: _____

Fingerprint Comparison

Across

3. The small, precise, or trivial details of something
 4. A fingerprint pattern that resembles a bull's eye
 6. A fingerprint pattern in which the ridge pattern flows inward and returns in the direction of the origin
 11. A chemical reagent used to develop latent fingerprints on porous materials by reacting with amino acids in perspiration
 12. A triangular ridge pattern with ridges that go in different directions above and below a triangle
 14. To leave a stamp or impress on a surface
 15. A ridge line that suddenly stops

16. The recognizable pattern of the ridges found in the end joints of fingers that form lines on the surface of objects in a fingerprint; Arches, Loops, Whorls
 17. A part of the fingerprint where two ridges are connected by one ridge
 18. A point in a finger image where two ridges meet
 20. An impression left behind by a hand

Down

1. The scientific study of the measurements and proportions of the human body
 2. A hidden fingerprint pattern visible through the use of powders or other techniques
 5. Two dimensional impressions that are already visible

7. Division into three branches or parts; a blood vessel or teeth that have three roots
 8. A three dimensional fingerprint made in soft material such as clay or putty
 9. An impression left on any surface that consists of a pattern made by ridges on a finger
 10. A form used to record and preserve a person's fingerprint
 13. Center of a loop or whorl
 19. A fingerprint in which the ridge pattern originates from one side of the print and leaves on the other side