

Name: _____

Date: _____

Functionalism & Family Key-Words

Across

- 4. One of the emerging needs of industrial society - could move from villages to busy cities for work
- 9. Who argued that the functions of the family are whatever 'functionally fits' societies needs at the time
- 13. Functionalism is a type of this theory
- 14. Which function is this? - child-bearing is possible and helps create the next generation
- 16. Another emerging need of an industrial society - where members must be able to become structurally isolated from kin to achieve status

18. Which function is this? - how we teach society's shared norms and values

Down

- 1. Murdock found family exist in all societies therefore is a...
- 2. A family which contains a heterosexual couple with their traditional roles and their children
- 3. one of the irreducible functions by Parsons - where children learn their gendered norms
- 5. Societies needs are met with everyone having their norms and values
- 6. Which society did Parsons say needed the extended family

7. A theory suggested by parsons that suggest family adapts to the current needs of society

- 8. Society is made up like the body
- 10. Evaluative term that functionalism is too positive
- 11. Who argued that the family has four functions?
- 12. Which function is this? - The family helps to create stable monogamous relationships for life
- 15. Which function is this? - allows for basic needs to be met e.g. food, shelter
- 17. Another irreducible function - stabilisation of adult personalities where adults come home to a...