

Genres

Across

1. Type of nonfiction book lists information about word spelling, meaning, and pronunciation in an alphabetical order.
4. Type of story finds its characters usually in a thrilling event of survival and discovery.
8. Term refers to all books and stories that are true and based on facts not made up.
10. Term refers to all books and stories that are not completely factual and contain parts that are made up.
11. Type of nonfiction book contains a collection of maps that allows people to identify places in the world.
14. Specific type of folk tale uses a lot of exaggeration for its characters and their abilities. Stories were often passed down through generations.
17. Types of writing uses lots of expression and senses to convey its message. It often has rhythm and rhyme in its stanzas.

19. Type of non fiction book lists information and facts on various topics alphabetically.

20. Type of fiction often contains magical people and events. Often shows a struggle between good and evil.

Down

2. Type of genre tells the true story of someone's life and written by that person.
3. Type of Fictional story contains events, characters, and settings that could really exist.
5. Type of story was often passed down from parent to child in order to explain or teach lesson includes fairy tales, tall tales, legends, and fables.
6. Type of fictional story passed down through generations and invented to explain things that were not understood at the time.

7. Type of nonfiction book gives facts and details about a specific topic or procedure on how to do something.

9. Type of genre tells the true story of someone's life. Written by another person.

12. Type of fictional story uses made up characters and action but takes place during an actual event in history.

13. Term refers to the categorization of books based on similar characteristics and features.

15. This book contains clues and uses detectives to solve a crime or suspicious event.

16. Fiction genre containing characters and settings in an imaginary world. Characters have super powers.

18. Type of fictional writing often uses talking animals in short stories. Usually trying to teach a lesson and often has a moral at the end.