

Geography

Across

2. To connect with something else.
 3. To supply an area with water via pipes, hoses, diverting streams or spraying.
 4. A map that uses different shades and colours to indicate values of a variable within the area.
 6. One of seven large landmasses of the Earth.
 12. The transparent and tasteless liquid composed of hydrogen and oxygen that is necessary for life.
 15. The total amount or weight of living matter in an ecosystem or habitat.
 17. The ability to sustain or support.

18. When an area that is adjacent or connected to a body of water is likely to be flooded.
 19. The information required to read a map's symbols.
 20. The act of clearing forests or trees.
 21. A measure of relative warmth or coldness of a substance.
 22. The state of being able to produce crops and vegetation abundantly.

Down

1. The loss of plant nutrients from soil due to excessive rain and irrigation.
 5. The amount of salt in water.

7. The air, water, minerals, organisms and external factors such as temperature surrounding an organism.
 8. The occupation or science related to cultivating land, raising crops and livestock.
 9. The moisture content of the air.
 10. The gradual destruction of something by natural forces, i.e. rain, wind, etc.
 11. A geological formation containing or conducting ground water.
 13. An area of space.
 14. An extent or area.
 16. The science or practice of studying the earth's surface.