

Great American Read

Across

1. This book series by Diana Gabaldon has been turned into a popular television show starring Sam Heughan as dashing Highland hero Jamie Fraser.
3. This Dan Brown book started a popular movie series that stars Tom Hanks. The Da
5. This book by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie about a Nigerian woman explores racism in the US.
7. This series by Stephanie Meyer had readers declaring they were Team Edward or Team Jacob.
8. Paulo Coelho's book about an Andalusian shepherd boy who believes he has prophetic dreams and follows them to Egypt.
9. Master of horror Stephen King imagines a post-apocalyptic world in this book.
12. We never learn the name of the narrator in this book by Daphne du Maurier.
15. This Hoosier is the author of Looking for Alaska and other titles, including The Fault in Our Stars.
21. This Toni Morrison book is dedicated to "Sixty Million and more," the number of Africans and their descendants who died in the Atlantic slave trade.
24. In this western classic, retired Texas Rangers who run the Hat Creek Cattle Company move their cattle from Texas to Montana.
25. This classic details the lives of the March sisters--Meg, Jo, Beth, and Amy.

26. The full title of this classic is Travels into Several Remote Nations of the World. In Four Parts. By Lemuel Gulliver, First a Surgeon, and then a Captain of Several Ships.
 27. The Alex Cross Mysteries series by this author has 25 books (and counting!).
 28. This author's novel The Joy Luck Club narrates the lives of four Chinese immigrant families whose mothers play mahjong together.
 29. This French novella has been translated into 300 languages and voted the best book of the 20th century in France.
 30. S.E. Hinton was 15 when she began writing this classic about conflict between two rival gangs.
- Down
2. A spider named Charlotte writes messages about a pig named Wilbur in her web in the classic by this author.
 4. This title by Jane Austen has been remade countless times. One of the most recent is the contemporary retelling by Curtis Sittenfeld called Eligible.
 6. The Guinness Book of World Records says this author of And Then There Were None is the best-selling novelist of all time.
 10. The Joads join thousands of other "Okies" heading west to look for work in this classic set during the Great Depression.

11. This Pulitzer-winning book by Alice Walker is #17 on the American Library Association's Top 100 Banned Books List: 2000-2009.
13. The working title of this Margaret Mitchell book was Tomorrow is Another Day, after Scarlett O'Hara's iconic last line.
14. In this author's sci fi classic we learn "the answer to the ultimate question of life, the universe and everything is 42."
16. This Dickensian classic featuring Pip, Mrs. Joe, and Miss Havisham was first published as a serial in Dickens' weekly literary magazine.
17. This novel by Michael Crichton sparked five blockbuster movies about a theme park of cloned dinosaurs.
18. This Ernest Cline novel is set in the future but takes readers deep in to 1970s and 1980s nostalgia.
19. This popular book and TV series by George R.R. Martin has spawned memes with the captions "Winter is Coming."
20. This beloved children's book series started out written on a napkin.
22. The Hunt for Red October was this author's debut novel.
23. The popular coffee chain Starbucks is named after a sailor who served under Captain Ahab in this Herman Melville classic.