

Name: _____

Date: _____

Hair Morphology

Across

2. the soft internal tissue or pith of a plant.
 3. A regressing phase of the hair growth cycle during which cell proliferation ceases, the hair follicle shortens, and an anchored club hair is produced.
 6. forming an unbroken whole; without interruption
 7. the outer layer of cells covering an organism
 13. the dead skin at the base of a fingernail or toenail.
 18. resting phase of hair
 19. a surface or shape that is or would be exposed by making a straight cut through something, especially at right angles to an axis:
 20. a small secretory cavity, sac, or gland

23. the curved sickle shape of the waxing or waning moon

24. break or cause to break into fragments:

Down

1. a fibrous protein forming the main structural constituent of hair, feathers, hoofs, claws, horns, etc
 4. having a penultimate dominant chord that is followed not by the expected tonic chord but by another chord, usually the submediant.
 5. a long, narrow, typically vertical hole that gives access to a mine, accommodates an elevator in a building, or provides ventilation.
 8. a substance that has a molecular structure consisting chiefly or entirely of a large number of similar units bonded together

9. having adjacent edges overlapping.
 10. the study of the forms of things, in particular.

11. having spines; spiny

12. Growth phase of the hair cycle, lasting about 3-6 years in human scalp hair.

14. of or in the coronal plane

15. a regularly recurring sequence of activities or functions

16. the basic cause, source, or origin of something

17. not present in a place, at an occasion, or as part of something

21. an outer layer of tissue immediately below the epidermis of a stem or root.

22. having a rounded and slightly elongated outline or shape, like that of an egg:

25. the skin