Haircutting Final

Across

2. Texturizing technique using the razor with the comb in circular motions.

4. which guideline is guideline that does not move throughout the haircut.

7. What is checking the haircut called for accuracy and balance?

10. This haircut has an elevation of 45 degrees?

11. Texture technique involves using of comb also to enable hair to lay flatter.

12. These lines are used to create interest and movement in haircuts.

15. Cutting Position used in order to hold shears horizontally and for straight lines?

16. Texture technique dragging the shears open and closed vertically along hair.

17. This haircut uses a traveling guide only and perpendicular distribution?

19. Area of the head where head extends from apex down to uppermost point where the head starts to slope downward.

20. This haircut has an elevation of 90 degrees?

21. This haircut the ends of the hair fall into different lengths from short to long, v-shaped?

22. Distribution where the hair is combed in way the hair falls naturally.

23. Cutting position used where the palm face each other and is used for graduated cuts.

24. The angle we use to determine the degree of elevation is based off of what on the head?

Down

1. This haircut the hair at the back falls into an angled shape?

3. Distribution where the hair is combed at a 90 degrees.

5. Which is the guideline that moves to the section and travels around the haircut with you?

6. These lines are used to blend layers in haircuts.

8. Area of the head where head entends fromjust above the ear and continues downward to include the rest of the head is called?

9. Texture technique using a razor to remove small amounts of hair at ends when hair is wet.

13. These lines are used to create bulk.

14. This haircut uses natural fall distribution?

18. This haircut uses a stationary guideline only?