

Name: _____

Date: _____

Health

Across

3. occurs when your blood glucose, also called blood sugar, is too high

9. reluctance to take action

11. not transmissible by direct contact a noncommunicable disease

12. able to be communicated to others

13. a substance that provides nourishment essential for growth and the maintenance of life

14. each of a pair of organs in the abdominal cavity of mammals, birds, and reptiles, excreting urine

17. a membranous sac in humans and other animals, in which urine is collected for excretion

18. the quality of bending easily without breaking

19. reducing functional or nervous activity

Down

1. vigorous exercises, such as swimming or walking, designed to strengthen the heart and lungs

2. any of a range of psychological disorders characterized by abnormal or disturbed eating habits

4. above a weight considered normal or desirable

5. the action of stopping something from happening or arising

6. a respiratory condition marked by spasms in the bronchi of the lungs, causing difficulty in breathing

7. a substance that raises levels of physiological or nervous activity in the body

8. A unit of energy you get from eating and/or drinking

10. a solid inorganic substance of natural occurrence

15. the ability to understand and share the feelings of another

16. Drugs and alcohol are _____