

Name: _____

Date: _____

Herbivores

Across

2. the system which includes the process of both ingestion and egestion

6. teeth commonly found in herbivores near the back of the mouth. used to grind plant material.

11. enzyme that breaks down cellulose

12. orange stick that a rabbit eats

17. another word for chemical digestion

18. assists enzymes in the break down of food particles in the stomach

19. when animals such as rabbits eat their own faeces

20. these teeth are very sharp in carnivores but nearly invisible in herbivores

Down

1. wave like motion that occurs in the oesophagus to push food into the stomach

3. amylase breaks this down into starch

4. enzymes which break down protein

5. we looked at the skeleton of this herbivore in class the other week.

7. the gap in between the molars and front incisors

8. the organ where undigested cellulose is diverted to this organ. is near the appendix

9. mechanically breaks down the food in the mouth

10. broken down by lipase

13. to chew food regurgitated by the stomach

14. biological catalysts

15. this is broken down into amino acids

16. is the product of egestion