

Human Development Ch. 4 Vocabulary- Female Anatomy/Pregnancy

Across

2. The name of the female reproductive cell.
 4. A female organ where a fertilized ovum will develop into a baby.
 7. A pregnancy where the fertilized egg stays in the Fallopian tube
 8. The name of the male reproductive cell
 11. A sperm enters an ovum creating a developing baby

12. Sperm are injected into the woman's uterus to encourage pregnancy
 13. A part of the female anatomy that dilates and effaces during labor
 14. Two separate female ovum fertilized by two separate sperm develop into two babies

Down

1. A woman's egg is fertilized with a sperm and then implanted into the woman's body.

3. A general term indicating a woman is carrying more than one baby
 5. A fertilization technique where an egg from another woman is fertilized and placed into a woman's uterus.
 6. The location where the sperm fertilizes the woman's egg.
 9. One fertilized egg splits completely in half to create twins
 10. The part of the female anatomy that releases an ovum

Word Bank

- | | | | |
|------------------------|-------------------------|----------------|---------|
| Fraternal Twins | Fertilization | Multiple Birth | Ectopic |
| Uterus | Fallopian Tube | Ovum Transfer | Cervix |
| In vitro Fertilization | Artificial Insemination | Ovum | Sperm |
| Ovary | Identical | | |