

Name: _____

Human Diseases Chapter 15

Across

4. Lithotripsy may be the treatment of choice for this condition

7. This organ helps regulate the water, electrolyte, and acid-base content of the blood

9. These can be small like a grain of sand or very large and possibly formed by calcium salts. Most common cause of urinary obstruction.

10. Urinary Tract Infections (UTIs) are commonly the result of this bacteria

11. pain or burning with urination

12. scant or little urination

Down

1. A form of treatment for end-stage renal disease that results in receiving a kidney from a family member or from a cadaver

2. Causes multiple fluid-filled sacs or cysts in the renal tubules, diminishes kidney function, and is one of the most common hereditary disorders.

3. Another term for kidney infection

5. Excessive levels of serum protein in the urine

6. Treatment for end-stage renal disease that removes the high concentration of metabolic waste products from the blood.

8. blood in the urine