

Infection Control

Across

2. _____ refers to protective clothing, helmets, goggles, or other garments or equipment designed to protect the wearer's body from injury or infection.
8. Parasites are types of _____ bacteria.
10. Be sure reusable equipment is _____ before you use it on another patient.
14. The number one intervention to break the chain of infection.

15. _____ is separating one patient from others.

Down

1. Type of bacteria that can live on dead matter:
3. Route of infection which is carried on very small droplets or dust particles that float in the air (Chickenpox, measles, TB).
4. Wash your hands immediately after removing _____.
5. The first element of Infection Control.

6. The one-celled microorganisms also known as germs or microbes are:
7. Who is responsible for Infection Control?
9. Never _____ a needle after use.
11. What is a common bacteria that is antibiotic resistant?
12. Most health-care-associated infections are transmitted to patients by _____.
13. Alcohol based sanitizer is ineffective to this pathogen.