

Name: _____ Date: _____

Infection Prevention - Isolation and PPE

Across

1. Basic precautions healthcare workers should use for every patient, every time
5. What the healthcare worker should initiate for a patient with a contagious or infectious disease
8. The acronym for the equipment that healthcare workers use to protect themselves from infectious diseases and from bloodborne pathogens

9. Purpose of gloves, masks, gowns, respirator masks, etc.
10. You must always wear one of these to cover your body when entering the room of a c.diff patient

11. Type of mask worn into a tuberculosis patient's room
12. These should ALWAYS be worn for any procedure on any patient entering the hospital; part of standard precautions

Down

2. Type of isolation used for seasonal influenza

3. Suspected tuberculosis patients should be in this type of isolation

4. This is worn on the face when entering the room of a patient on droplet isolation

6. Where the different types of isolation are found and described on the NSH Intranet

7. Type of isolation used for patients with active c. diff infections