

Name: _____

Date: _____

Initiating Social Relationships

Across

2. Focus of infant and caregiver is on the same thing or event; the infant may check on the caregiver's face to make sure he or she is looking at the object of interest to the infant.
 4. Initiating Social Relationships
 6. Emotions, mood
 8. Child point to or physically signals the caregiver to look at something. Infant checks to see if the adult is responding.

10. Knowledge and understanding of social acts.
 11. Interval affective states,
 12. Process by which the self or identity is developed
 13. Words about objects, actions, and locations.
 14. Actions that respond to another person's action.

Down

1. The degree to which the adult temperament fits the temperament of the infant.

3. A temperamental approach that is negative in mood, independent and irritable

5. Degree of arousal. Muscle tone, activity, respiration, position of the eyelids, and alertness vary in each state.

7. Reacts to nonverbal and verbal cues.

9. Capacity to cooperate in a group, to regulate one's behavior according to society, to get along with others