

Intro to Physiology

Across

3. What is one characteristic of life that has to do with an increase in body size?

6. What is one thing anatomy focuses on?

9. Who was the first person to draw a fetus still in the uterus?

10. What is the study of the body parts functions called?

13. MRIs and X-Rays are known as...

14. Heat is a form of what?

Down

1. What is known as the application of force?

2. Small cameras and small incisions are known as...

4. What maintains the bodies internal environment?

5. Why are the hearts chambers empty?

7. What do people get nutrients from?

8. Humans are what percent water?

11. Animal studies and surgeries are both...

12. Carbohydrates break down to what?