

Name: _____

Date: _____

Key Terms

Across

2. An assistive device on a keyboard that allows students to press keys sequentially to execute functions that typically require pressing keys simultaneously

8. A display that responds to human touch. Rather than using a mouse or a pointer, the icon on the screen is touched.

10. Books and documents that have already been converted into or written for an electronic format

11. Assistive devices that offer a large surface area and larger keys than a standard keyboard for supporting students who lack fine motor skills

13. Low-tech assistive devices that are acrylic or metal covers with holes for each key that is paces on a keyboard. the guards increase typing accuracy by allowing only one key at a time to be pressed

Down

1. An approach for gifted students that recognizes and targets instruction to the varying abilities found in the same classroom

3. Programs that can make an educated guess about the word a student is typing based on the first few letters. It can help reduce the number of keystrokes required

4. Assistive device, a keyboard that can be configured to an individual student's needs

5. The process of building bridges from prior knowledge as a baseline and moving students beyond that point

6. Assistive devices that support students with very poor vision or ones who become fatigued from screen magnification

7. Hardware and software that is designed or can be used to support the needs of exceptional students

9. Assistive device that can magnify a display supporting students with limited vision

12. Can assist students who can understand material at their grade level when they hear it but have difficulty with decoding and comprehending when they read it