

Name: _____

Law Vocab. Study Guide

Across

5. Innkeeper may enter only for reasonable purposes: normal maintenance and repair, imminent danger, (fill in blank), when entry is requested by the guest.
6. Outlawed discrimination in four types of establishments; ☐ hotels, places of entertainment, ☐ gas station, (fill in blank)
8. Right to (fill in blank) in guest room, including right to restrict access.
9. Illnesses caused by consuming foods or beverages contaminated with bacteria, viruses, and parasites.
12. Valid vs. (fill in blank) vs. Voidable vs. Void
13. Intentionally untruthful statement made for the purpose of misleading someone.
16. Goods are fit for ordinary purpose and are at least of average quality.
17. Threats of harm if they do not sign.
18. The personal rights that derive primarily from the Constitution.
22. Governmental subdivision charged with administering legislation that applies to a particular industry.

24. A proposal to do or give something of value in exchange for something else.
25. Based on an obligation imposed by the law with no agreement needed between parties; victim prosecutes and receives compensation or restitution.
27. A body of rules to which people must conform their conduct; a form of social control.
28. Law adopted by federal or state legislature.
29. Right to cancel, also called the right to avoid or (fill in blank)
30. We owe the duty only to those people who would (fill in blank) be injured by our actions

Down

1. A person who brings a case against another in a court of law.
2. Refers to lawsuits; the process of filing claims in court, and ultimately going to trial.
3. The breach of a legal duty to act reasonably that is the direct (proximate) cause of injury to another.
4. Facts sufficient for a reasonably prudent person to believe that evidence of a crime is located in the place the police want to search.

7. Receipt of services without payment.
10. This duty does not extend to unforeseeable or unexpected criminal acts by third persons.
11. The person who makes an offer.
14. If a hotel invites guests to swim in a natural body of water, the inn's duty of reasonable care requires it to inspect the bottom for dangerous objects.
15. The person to whom the offer is made.
19. Can refuse persons who are: criminals, (fill in blank), disorderly, unclean and unkempt, or suffering from contagious disease.
20. Someone who comes to an establishment for the purpose for which the business is open to the public.
21. Rental of rooms suitable for overnight stays.
23. The three most common foodborne illness are: clostridium perfringens, (fill in blank), and salmonella.
26. An individual, company, or institution sued or accused in a court of law.