

Name: _____

Date: _____

Literary Elements Vocabulary

Across

7. When the audience knows something that the characters do not
10. The process by which the personality of the character is revealed through the character's speech, actions, and appearance using inference
11. The opposing character or force in a story that is against the main character
13. The underlying meaning of a story that the writer wants the reader to learn
14. An expression that is clear only to those who are familiar with the language of its origin and can't be understood based on its literal meaning
15. The inward conflict between a character and himself/herself

Down

1. A literary or dramatic character who does not change throughout the course of the literature
2. The writer reveals the personality of the character through actual words in the literature
3. A literary or dramatic character who undergoes an important inner change, as a change in personality or attitude
4. The outward struggle between a character and another character, nature, or society
5. An event that happens that is completely opposite of what is expected to happen

6. A reference to something for a known field or area that readers would recognize and connect with while they are reading
8. A comparison in which an idea or a thing is compared to another idea or thing that is quite different
9. The main character in a story plot
12. When something spoken is not what you really mean; sarcasm