

Name: _____

Date: _____

Malignant Hyperthermia

Across

2. Who do you call for help during a MH crisis
4. To ensure patient safety, a MH _____ should be readily available for use by departments where anesthesia is administered.
5. _____ the patient with 100% oxygen to remove volatile anesthetics and lower end-tidal CO₂.
6. _____ is the drug of choice for treatment of MH.
7. MH is a serious genetic and potentially lethal syndrome caused by a _____ state.

9. If patient's core temperature is greater than 39 degrees Celsius proceed with _____ measures. This may include lavaging open body cavities, applying ice to body surface, apply cooling blanket and/or rapidly infuse cold normal saline.

10. We have one vial of this medication since it is easily mixed.

Down

1. MH may be precipitated by the administration of volatile inhalation anesthetic agents and depolarizing muscle relaxants, such as _____.

3. The most sensitive indicator of a suspected case of MH is an unanticipated increase of _____.

8. How many MH cart/buckets do we have in house?