

Medical Math Review

Across

5. _____ ounces equals one pound.
8. _____ teaspoons equals one tablespoon.
9. One cup equals _____ ounces.
11. Volume equals length times width times _____.
13. Temperature can be measured in Fahrenheit or _____.
15. A kilometer equals 2.2 _____.
19. To convert from centimeters to millimeters, move the decimal one place to the _____.
20. An ounce equals _____ mLs.
21. The abbreviation for drop is _____.
22. The top number of a fraction.
24. The abbreviation for pint is _____.
26. Area is measured in _____ units.

27. XC equals _____ in Roman Numerals.
29. Cross products can be used to solve a _____.
30. Acupuncture is a type of _____ medicine.
31. L in Roman Numerals equals _____.

Down

1. Temperature is measured in _____.
2. One quart equals _____ ounces.
3. _____ is figuring out an approximate answer.
4. Thirty six inches equals one _____.
6. In the metric system, length is measured in _____.
7. The bottom number of a fraction.

10. The abbreviation for gallon is _____.
12. 0.08 is _____ percent.
14. To convert from grams to kilograms, move the decimal three places to the _____.
16. Six pounds equals _____ ounces.
17. One _____ is 500 mL.
18. The Roman Numeral IV equals _____.
23. There are _____ inches in one foot.
25. An input and _____ chart is used to measure a patient's fluid gains and losses.
28. Most countries outside of the US use the _____ system as the standard for measuring.