

Networking Basics Crossword

Across

- 1. topology describes the way messages are sent
- 3. group of computers and associated devices that share a common communications line or wireless link, typically to a server.
- 6. covers an area that is roughly the same size as a standard LAN.
- 9. portion of the IP address that identifies the network the device is assigned to.
- 11. a collection of many different networks owned by many different entities that all share information and communicate together.
- 13. connects several LANs.

15. absorb signals and prevent them from reflecting repeatedly back and forth on the cable.

16. computer network made up of an interconnection of local area networks within a limited geographical area.

Down

- 2. local or restricted communications network, especially a private network created using WWW software.
- 4. identifies the network and host address assigned to a device
- 5. topology describes the way the network is wired.

7. group of computers that can share information through interconnections.

8. all of the networks within the same area that are connected together.

10. describe how devices are connected and how messages flow from device to device.

12. partially accessed by authorized outside users, enabling businesses to exchange information over the internet securely.

14. very small network used for communicating between personal devices.