

OHS Crossword

Across

2. What percentage of their waking hours does the average Canadian spend at work?

3. If the committee cannot resolve an issue at Local level we will do this to the concern

8. A drug or chemical that has the potential to cause harm is labelled this

10. Bullying, harassment and discriminations are examples of what type of hazard?

13. An action to prevent further safety incidents is termed this

14. If you believe your work to be dangerous you can trigger a dangerous work.....

16. A tripping hazard, such as cords left across a walkway are examples of what sort of hazard?

17. What is the colour given to the dot in the new safety alert initiative

19. Once you file an OHS report the committee will start an

22. Once we contact your manager they have this number of days to respond to your OHS concern

23. What are the initials used to help protect nurses from exposure to various hazards

24. This matters at work

25. If you have concerns please contact your UNA OHS .....

26. Reporting OHS concerns is a UNA members ...

27. At work your safety is both yours and your employers.....

Down

1. Exposure to airborne, contact or droplets that may contain bacteria or viruses are an example of what type of hazard?

4. If you have an incident at work involving your safety you should file this

5. If you're sick you should

6. What are the initials of the FMC Committee that meets once a month at FMC to discuss sote-wide health and safety issues

7. AHS has a form on Insite that you should fill for incidents at work. What's it called?

9. What are the initials of the binder that should be accessible in all units for the purposes of identifying known hazards?

11. One of the most common OHS concerns relates to what in the workplace?

12. We all need to work together to keep our workplaces .....

15. This became legal in Canada last year

18. Each AHS facility has an emergency response....

20. You cannot work of you are this

21. You need to try and keep yourself this, in order to help you be well at work