

Personal Auto Policy - Week 1

Across

- 2. A state's no-fault automobile insurance law permits an injured party to sue the responsible party for noneconomic loss if the victim's medical and lost-wage expenses exceed $5,000. This feature of the no-fault law illustrates
- 6. Regarding the PAP, which one of the following includes details on coverage related to state-specific laws and regulations
- 7. What is the most commonly used method of compensating auto accident victims?
- 9. Regarding PAP, where are the details on coverage related to state-specific laws and regulations included?
- 10. A state's no-fault automobile insurance law permits an injured party who experiences permanent disfigurement to sue the responsible party for noneconomic loss. This feature of the no-fault law illustrates

- 11. Marcia has sustained serious injuries in an automobile accident with another driver. If the no-fault automobile insurance law in her state permits her to sue the other driver for economic damages only if her economic damages exceed her no-fault coverage limit, what type of no-fault law applies in Marcia's state?
- 12. The time frame, beginning with the inception date, during which the insurance coverage applies, is known as the
- 13. Many states require a claim representative to give consideration to the insured's interest that is at least equal to the consideration that he or she gives to the insurer's interest. This manner of handling claims is known as
- 14. A personal injury protection (PIP) endorsement is an endorsement added to an auto insurance policy to provide

Down

- 1. A person, corporation, partnership, or other entity identified as an insured party in a PAP Declaration page is known as the
- 3. Is a component of the PAP declaration page
- 4. Within the PAP, the name of a lender, loss payee, or lienholder is usually shown
- 5. What section of the PAP provides coverage for medical cost and loss wages when the insured is injured by a hit-and-run driver
- 8. The Definitions section of the PAP defines several words and phrases. What word is used in connection to Part B-Medical Payments Coverage and Part C - Uninsured Motorist Coverage, clarifying the coverage provided?