

Preliminaries to human communication

Across

6. communication takes place only to the extent that the parties communicating share the same system signals
8. communication cannot be reversed
9. putting ideas into a sound wave or computer program
11. the rightness or wrongness of actions
14. Communication you have with yourself
15. no communication can ever be re-created in quite the same way because circumstances are never the same
17. communication between people via computer

18. communication which occurs at the same time

20. communication within an organization

21. communication that proceeds by question and answer

Down

1. The process or act of communicating

2. the relatively specialized lifestyle of a group of people

3. Communication between two persons or among a small group of persons

4. communication of speaker with audience

5. the possibility of interpreting a message in more than one way

7. communication in which sending and receiving a message takes place at different times

10. anything that interferes with a person's receiving a message

12. medium through which the message passes

13. communication addressed to an extremely large audience

16. a general statement or principle applicable to related phenomena

19. the physical, social, physical, temporal, and cultural environment in which communication takes place